MIDDLETOWN, DEL., JUNE 15, 1895.

STATE pride in Delaware is limited to no party, to no section. It is general. credit and we all congratulate ourselves that $35,000 worth of bonds, sold to build an addition to the State Insane Asylum, should bring $36,568. The higher the premium the less the payment to be made by the people. whose credit is good with capitalists rather than with the "economical Administration" which our Democratic Republicans to claim the credit of the Treasurer negotiates the loan as for the Democratic press to claim it as a virtue to that party. Honor to whom honor is due, and the honor in this case belongs to the citizens of the What a unanimity of opinion have State in whose honesty and justice capitalits have an abiding faith.

But in this connection is it not strange that during thirty years of but there are those that seek and find power the Democratic party has done not because their purposes are not so little for the State? No public institutions, no public buildings, no public improvements worthy of mention except those that have come in the past six years through Republican influence. A Democratic Legislature refused to purchase Farnhurst but a Republican General Assembly establishes that institution, and passes high license, giving to the public schools free text-books. The next Legislature is Democratic and creates over a hundred offices to be filled by a Democratic Governor and to be paid out of the public treasury. Reforms cease until another Republican General Assembly is ected, another "bad lot" and like the former, in the opinion of the Democratic editors "the worst that ever was," when the people come asking expecting to receive. An appropriation is passed by this Republican Legislature to extend the State House and give the Public Library the protection and care its value demands. It gives the State Asylum an additional building, and even pasees a bill for a work-house which Chief Justice Lore demonstrated would be a paying investment. How wicked of the Republicans to attempt to put the State in line with other States in our public buildings and institutions! The Democrats had been in power for thirty years and had done nothing of the kind! What a bad lot they are! But isn't this a queer world?

On Saturday last the Morning News contained the following statementt from Col. Henry A. duPont, relative to his presenting his claim for a seat in the United States Senate.

"I was surprised to hear yesterday that a report was current in the lower part of the state that I did not intend to claim a seat in the United States Senate. This report is without founda tion.

"I absolutely approve of the protest made in the joint convention of the General Assembly against the participation of Governor Watson in the proceedings of that body, and propose, at the proper time and in the proper place, to have an adjudication made not only of my slaim, but of the right of the people of this state to be fully represented in the Senate of the United States."

This statement is timely and to the point. It is not only what Republicans expected but what Delawareans felt confident would be Col. duPont's course. The people of Delaware have a right to two representatives in the Senate of the United States as Col. duPont says, and the const prevent it should be fully investigated and passed upon by the proper tribunal in that case—the United States Senate. There it will go and there it will be decided. We can afford to await the

But the fact that the Senate of the United States is the judge of the qualification of its members under the Constitution and that it will pass upon Col. duPont's title to membership therein, has set the Every Evening to chanting its little tune,

"Will you? Will you? Mr. Fly!"
The song has become rather doleful "The song has become rather doleful and interests only the Every Evening.
"To the courts! To the courts!" is the cry. "Let the courts pass upon the title." It is said that certain members of the courts passed upon the question in advance; that it took judicial opinion to back up partisan appeals to give to Governor Watson "the backbone," contrary to his conscientious convictions, which so elated Editor Handy that he, with beaming smile, on the 9th of May in the House of Represent a tives, was extending to every Democrat his "congratulations on the backbone of the administration—its a daisy," and at the same time called his friend Hanby and with extended hand said: "I congratulate you, Bob, old boy; put if there." Undoubtedly both of these worthies would like to see the matter carried to the court where they have hope that reasons might be found in our antiquated and contradictory constitution for upholding their views of the matter and that the conspiracy to prevent an election should prevail. It will not go to the courts. There is no reason why it should go to the courts. There is no reason why it should go to the courts. The senate of the United States will extend the matter and that the constitution of secretary of a settlet he matter and that the courts. The deadlock defeated about all the legislation for the public good which came up, and made the Legislature the worst this State has known."—Every Evening, June 10th.

Did the deadlock defeat the work ouse bill, so ably championed by Chief Justice Lore, and passed unanimously by the House? It was a reform measure, non-political and for the public good. Why did the Democratic Senate defeat it? Will the Every Evening answer? When it does we will put other facts before it showing how the Democrats defeated the reform legislation supported by Republicans

But in passing, is not the Every Evening the last paper to complain of the "deadlock"? It did what it could to continue it during the four months and at the close of the session on the floor of the House, during that memor able afternoon, its editor joined hands with Bob Hanby with a "put it there, old boy, I congratulate you," and was gushing with thanks over another 'Addicks member'' with "thanks for the favor, old fellow, many thanks, you did it right," Is it not an insult to honest men Democrats as well as Republicans, to have such a hypocrite preaching reform? The TRANSCRIPT has no excuse to offer for the intentional and premedi tated breaking of promises and pledges of reform, whether by Republicans or Democrats, but it does object to the out interruption the practice of my slandering of a Legislature, of which the Governor of the State was a member and a participant in its legislation by a man of the type of L. Irving Handy, and we do not stand alone in this protest. A man who could pour the vials of political slime on the head of a dying Governor in order to strike a blow at an honorable political opponent, and prolong the deadlock which he now denounces, while the best citizens of all parties awaited with profound sorrow the news from the death bed of the State's Chief Executive, is capable of any act that a coward could be guilty of. For such a man to preach reform is like Satan reproving sin. Well may self-respect ing Democrats say to such, "Get thee behind me, Satan; we know thee and thy works that they are evil and only evil; be gone!" NO DOUBT OF HIS ELECTION. The following interview with ex-Senator Higgins appeared in the Phila-

To hold that this fundamental difference, admitted to exist in the widest possible degrees and by the most positive enactment and affirmation in the case where the Governor is elected by the people, is, by mere construction, to be set aside where the Governor, as Speaker of the House or of the Senate, succeeds to the office by reason of the death of the Governor elected by the people, is contrary to the letter of the Constitution, and does violence to its whole

EDITOR TRANSCRIPT:—There is said to be good in everything if one will only look for it. I have even thought there is good in your "Crank" who last week, expressed some old-fashioned ideas about Children's Day services in general. I think none of us would go back to the stage coach of our fathers, but is there not danger of our travelling too fast?

It was my good fortune once to witness in one of the wealthiest and most liberal churches of all this section, a Children's Day service which for simplicity and lack of what "Crank" calls "Dress Parade," but for presence of reverence for the house of God, commended itself to me. The program was simple; school songs, the songs with which they were all familiar, with the exception of one or two solos and a duett to vary the service of song, for such it was designated, and an old but ever new chorus by the primary school.

Prayer was offered at the opening, and during the evening an address was made which was both interesting and instructive. On retiring, the congregation showed the respect due to the house of prayer and the lack of hilarity so often seen on such occasions, was noticeable.

We long to see the day set apart for the children, made a day in which the Sabbath school may be awakened to renewed zeal, and parents, teachers, scholars, yea all the community, may feel it his or her duly as well as pleasure to help on the service of the community, may feel it his or her duly as well as pleasure to help on the children as well as pleasure to help on the children as well as pleasure to help on the children as well as pleasure to help on the children as well as pleasure to help on the children as well as pleasure to help on the children as well as pleasure to help on the children as well as pleasure to help on the children as well as pleasure to help on the children as well as pleasure to help on the children as well as pleasure to help on the children as well as pleasure to help on the children as well as pleasure to help on the children as well as pleasure to help zeal, and parents, teachers, scholars, yea all the community, may feel it his or her duty as well as pleasure to help on this work. We are constantly hearing that the Sunday School is the nursery for the church. The good book tells us "To bring up a child in the way he shall go, when he is old he will not depart from its precepts." The question in my mind is, Are we fulfilling this command when we conduct our services as we did in our recent observances? It is sad to me to see the house set apart for the worship of God, turned into a play house.

Another question arises, Mr. Editor, ught these things so to be? ANOTHER CRANK.

The meeting of the Young Peoples' Temperance Society at Mrs. Creeds on Monday evening was well attended; some of the young men have become members and it is to be hoped they will be the means of interesting others. After the regular business of the evening was transacted refreshments were served as a fitting close to a most enjoyable evening.

Prof. George preached in the M. E.Church in the morning and made an address to the Sunday school in the evening the occa-sion being that of Children's Day. The the Sunday school in the evening the occasion being that of Children's Day. The programme for the evening was entitled "The Golden Gate," with Miss Cora Grimes as Guardian; Atwood Wingate, Duty; Sadie Craig, Truth; Charles Southwick, Wisdom; Stella Wingate, Service; John Roberts, Culture; and Eva Gardiner, Life. Miss Anna Pennington gave the introductory address in a creditable manner. As each pilgrim in turn presented themselves standing before the guardian of the Golden Gate, soliciting admission through the gate, they were presented with keys by means of which they finally entered. The exercises were participated in by members of the primary class also. The object lesson was well rendered by the small people as indeed were all the parts assigned. The singing by the choir was in its ustal spirited manner. The Church was well filled and beautifully decorated with plants and cut flowers. Th arrangement of the gate and the plants in the chancel were particularly beautiful.

The Presbyterian Sunday school also beld their Children's Day service the same

The Presbyterian Sunday school also held their Children's Day service the same evening, Mr. J. Thomas Price, presiding. The school marched into the church and taking the seats reserved for them, the exercises opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. Smith. The programme was as usualsinging, responsive reading, a recitation "Old Glory" by three little girls, followed by a primary exercise by 18 small girls and boys entitled "Feed My Lambs." As each little one recited his or her verse a gilt letter was uplifted until the whole sentence boys entitled "Feed My Lambs." As each little one recited his or her verse a gilt letter was uplifted until the whole sentence was spelled out. This exercise reflected great credit on the wee folk and instructor. This was in turn followed by a greeting from Dr. Wharton which was read by Mr. Price in his usual clear distinct voice. At the close of the reading Georgie Clark recited "The reaper and the Flowers." Dr. Smith then made an interesting address to the children, telling them of the "children in the temple singing Hosanna to the Son of David," also advising them to practise "pure thinking, right speaking and holy doing." The Secretary's (George B. Money) report was then read which stated "there were 120 members, a service every Sunday, average attendance 87, 15 admitted, 8 left, no deaths for two years, collections for year $76.61, about 15 were quite regular in attendance and one or two attended every session. The following received prizes for attendance: Guy Vail, Mollie Aker, Freddie Tugend, Nellie Vail, Lottie Vanhekle, Norman Cleaver, Mary Money, Charlie Tugend, George Tugend, Edna Vanhekle, Emma Tugend, Frank Money, John Money, Willie Neff. The exercises were interspersed with singing, closing with "Who's on the Lord's Side" and the doxology. Before the benediction was pronounced by Dr. Smith a collection was taken in a rather funny way. One gentleman carried a market basket. It is to be hoped one was filled!

It is not the business of the Transcript to boom any special business in competition with others, but it is apparent to all who observe that towns where the people are thrifty and save a part of their earnings are towns of "homes" instead of dwelling places. Possibly nothing has aided the home" more in this country with people of limited means than has the Building and Loan. It is true of them that a penny saved is a penny earned, whether it be in the old line companies or in the new that are offering to serve the public. There is too little of the inclination to make and have a home. There is too little of the saving of the pennies, not miserly but thoughtfully, that the dollars may be in Almost all the children attend both Sunday schools and so much practising is rather a tax upon their patience. In the evening, both congregations united in the Methodist Church, which was crowded. The exercises were very creditable, and everything passed off beautifully, reflecting great credit upon the few earnest workers who have the interest of the church at heart. The Methodist Church here is an important one, as it reaches a class who can be reached in no other way. The membership is nominally large but comparative ly few attend and contribute regularly. Consequently, it should be considered a mission church and be supported by the Conference.

Of Interest ....To Farmers

T. Romie Strong, who is one of the largest fruit growers of Kent county Md., recently told the "Kent News that he had received a lesson in peacl orchard cultivation which will be of special value to him. He began plough ing the orchards about the time of blooming and was stopped in the middle of the Smock variety by wet weather. An examination now shows serious injury to the crop in the ploughed section. To the very row in the smock variety where the furroughs were turned the peaches are dead while the same variety immediately adjoining, unploughed, are promising good crops. This proves conclusively the danger of late spring plowing in each orchards.

The rosebug does not destroy one peach when the curculio stings a June. hundred, and both together make no perceptible impression on a tree that enemy of any importance to anything other than grapes and roses.-Milford

News and Advertiser. The strawberry crop is a very short one this year all over the Middle and to any predecessors. Southern States. The cool wet weather of May rusted most of the vines, and the scorching suns a week ago prematurely ripened much of the fruit. The crop in Delaware is not over half the sual yield per acre. Prices have however, been good. The bulk of Delaware berries has been shipped this week and sold in the cities from 7 to 12 cents per quart. Next week will end shipments from this section .-News and Advertiser.

FARM BUTTER HINTS. As milk will keep sweet a long while in ice water, the precise time for skimming will not be essential, unless the vessels are wanted for refilling. When the cream is taken off it better be kept in ice water until enough for a churning is obtained and then all mixed together and A Specialty warmed to sixty degrees and frequently stirred until a slight acidity is perceptible and then churned in a churn which will at every revolution or oscillation operate on all the cream alike This even ripening of the cream and even churning are essential to com-W. S. LETHERBURY'S plete exhaustion of butter from butter-milk. A little caution in regard to plete exhaustion of butter from butterthe relative fluidity of the cream may be useful to the inexperienced. If the cream is too fluid the fat globules will be too much separated by liquid to churn readily or evenly, and there will be too many scattering globules left un-churned in the buttermilk. If there be too little fluidity in the cream the churning will be a grinding process that will injure the butter and cause gathering to begin before all is churned. The best and most exhaustive churning occurs when the weight of cream is about four times that of butter, or when two quarts of cream will make one pound of butter of butter. Jersey milk is sometimes so rich that churning the whole milkis preferable to skim ming, but is notgenerally so .- Prof. L. B. Arnold.

> KEEP UP THE FERTILITY. One phase of the dairy question must always be considered if one intends to maiatain it at a profitable standard. and this is the method of keeping up the fertility of the farm. Without a farm which is continually increasing in productiveness the dairy cannot be built to the highest possible point. Where milk is sold away from the farm much more fertility is carried away than when the butter is made at home and the residue fed to the farm stock. Then extra pains must be taken to offset this by feeding so to produce rich manures, and using every possiole care to apply these to the land before they shall have at all deteriorated n value. Home winter dairying will enable you to feed all farm crops to advantage, to make butter with profit and to accumulate more manure for enriching the fields than can be done when the stock run out. In the summer, soiling will enable you to maintain the land better than it can be funded. done by pasturing, but the majority of farmers are not yet ready for this .-

that furnish proof positive that the Our Woman's Southern farmer is recovering his norse sense: "Last Friday there were at least 1 000 bushels of corn and meal brought to Wadsboro' on wagons. The most of it came from Stanly county. The corn sold for from 65 to 671 cents per bushel. It this connection it is a fact that not a bushel of corn has been shipped to this market from abroad year and there will not be, as as there is the greatest plenty of the home made article in the country to supply the wants of our people."

A NUGGET OF WISDOM. The Augusta Chronicle contain this nugget of wisdom: "The South will become prosperous and financially independent when our farmers shall determine to become selfsustaining When they shall raise their own food and forage crops cotton will no longer be the foot-ball of unscrupulous and selfish speculation. It will command a remunerative price in the market of of the world."

The magazine, however, has lost none of its interesting features and this last number is a literary gem-equal

The Ladies Home Journal this month is the perfection of a woman's summer magazine. The editor writes of the "new woman," but denies her existence. Rev. Robert Collyer, D. D. tell in charming manner of the "woman who most influenced me," while Dr. Parkhurst lets off a volley against woman suffrage, in an article on "woman without the ballot." A new serial entitled "The Luck of the Pendennings" starts off pleasantly, and eyery page of the Journal is replete with ing matter for woman and the ome. It costs only 10 cents singly or $1.00

The Review of Reviews for June, gives an account of the passion play, to be given this summer at Horitz, a small town in Bohemia. The play will be rendered at stated intervals until October. One of the striking features of this magazine is the number of portraits of men of the day. The frontis-piece, "Prince of Bismark in his Home" is specially worthy of study, and the article on "Chicago Newspapers and their makers," is profusely illustrated with portraits.

A VETERAN'S STORY.

Gen. Catlin Praises Munyon for his Great Work.

Its Restoration to Health Due to the General A: B. Catlin, formerly Deputy Surveyor of the port of New York is a veteran of the army and a well-known Republican politician. "I have been troubled with catarrh for nany years," said General Catlin. 'I doctored for it a great deal, but did not obtain any material relief, and this winter my condition was terrible. I took cold easily, and my nose became stopped up. I had severe pains across the front of my head, my eyes became watery, 1 sneezed a a great deal, and my bones and joints ached continually. When I got up in the morning my throat was filled with a nasty slime which dropped there during the night. I had to hawk a great deal, and this made me gag and often vomit. There was a rearing or buzzing sound in my ears, and my breatl was very offensive, I lost my appetite, ran down in weight and became depressed in spirits.

"I tried thoroughly several of the best physicians, so-called, in New York, took patent nostrums of all descriptions, but grew worse all the time. "Finally, I began Munyon's Catarrh Rem-edies. I thought it was no use, and had but little faith, but I began to improve right away. My disease rapidily yielded to the remedy, and I underwent a change that was wonderful. Within a short tim I was entirely cured, last trace of the hid-eous disease had vanished, and to-day my friends are marveling at the great change in me. It is a wonderful relief to fee strong and healthy again, and it gives me great pleasure to testify that my restora-tion to health is due to Munyon's Catarrh

Do not on your wedding journey try to convince the public that you have been married twenty years. Mortal indifference comes soon enough with out being cultivated during the honey moon. Besides, it is not criminal to be a bride.

On the other hand, do not nauseate the public by demonstrations of affection. The public pays for its seat in the parlor car, and it has certain inanlienable rights guaranteed it by the Constitution, such as tend to the pursuit of happiness. Not even a bride and bridegroom should interfere with constitutional rights.

This donkey says that when American women reach the age of forty their faces get dried up sharp, and colorless, and they are apt to become suddenly gray and taci-turn. It is a lie. The donkey knows nothing about American women of any age. What flappers he must have, and what a jawbone.—N. Y. Sun.
